

SETTING SCREENS

Getting a team to set good, solid screens is a difficult and frustrating task for any coach. Players have a tendency to screen a floor position rather than the defensive player. The following drills develop screening and moving without the ball. Emphasis is on the screener using a jump stop when setting the screen and the cutter setting his man up to use the screen.

"Wing Screen" - #1 passes to C and sets a down screen for #2. #1 continues across lane and sets screen for #3. C passes to #2 on wing.

#2 looks low for #3 then passes back to C. #2 sets a down screen for #3. #2 continues across lane and sets a screen for #1. C passes to #3 on wing.

#3 looks low for #1 then passes back to C. The screening action continues. After screening technique is developed, defense is added.

"Away And Down" - #1 passes to #3 and screens away for #2. #3 looks low for #5 then #5 screens away for #4. #4 comes to ball. #3 looks for #4.

#3 reverses ball to #2. #1 screens down for #5 and #3 screens down for #4. #2 passes to #5 on the wing. #5 looks low for #1.

As #5 catches the ball, #2 screens away for #4. #1 screens away for #3. #5 looks low for #3. #5 reverses ball to #4. The drill continues. Defense can be added.
